La forma de pagos diferidos la puede obtener a través de su consejero de la prepa (high school), en la Oficina de Admisiones o en la siguiente página de internet: admissions.uoregon.edu/freshmen/feewaiver. El sobre debe estar sellado por el correo no más tarde que el 15 de enero del 2016, o en la fecha tope indicada en la oficina de Ayuda Financiera y Becas o de cada departamento académico. Un ensayo personal de una página será requerido para todos solicitantes. El tema del ensayo debe abordar la siguiente declaración límite 500 palabras:

La UO quisiera que usted comparta algo sobre si mismo que no se aparece en otra parte de ésta solicitud. Cualquier tema que escoge será bienvenido. Algunas ideas por su consideración incluyen sus metas y ambiciones por el futuro, un talento o pasatiempo único que sea diferente a sus amigos, o una experiencia impactante en su vida. Si usted está completando la solicitud para el Robert D. Clark Honors College, está bienvenido usar el mismo ensayo por las dos solicitudes.

En el segundo ensayo, que no es obligatorio, le invitamos a que nos proporcione la comprensión adicional de lo que eres, especialmente en lo que se refiere a la diversidad. En la Universidad de Oregon, nos sentimos orgullosos de ser una institución cada vez más diversa, y creemos que nuestra comunidad universitaria se hace más fuerte cuando diversas perspectivas están presentes y se da la bienvenida. (Consideramos la diversidad en todas sus formas, como la raza / origen étnico, geográfico y origen nacional, orientación sexual / identidad de género, nivel socioeconómico, religión, ideología, intereses académicos, y más.) Si su primer ensayo ya cubre estas ideas, no es necesario repetirlo, ni tampoco se necesita escribir un segundo tema relacionado con la diversidad. Pero, si decide responder, proporcionarnos 250-500 palabras que describen cómo asistir Oregon ayudaría a ampliar su propia comprensión de la diferencia y de la comunidad, o lo que sus perspectivas únicas le traen a la escuela.

Si es necesario, presente un informe personal de las circunstancias que hayan afectado su desempeño escolar

Separate Applications Required

Presidential and Stamps scholarships: Incoming Oregon-resident freshmen with stellar academic records, leadership experience, and a commitment to volunteer service are encouraged to apply separately for Presidential and Stamps scholarships. In 2015–16, the Presidential Scholarship award is $9,000 for incoming freshmen. Just 50 of these awards are available each year. The Stamps Scholarship will cover tuition and fees and room and board for five incoming freshmen for four years. Freshmen Admission Requirements

STANDARD ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

A. Graduate From a Standard or Regionally Accredited High School

To be admitted, you must graduate from a standard or regionally accredited high school. We offer tentative admission based on your sixth semester transcripts and your planned senior schedule. Final admission is granted only after we have received transcripts verifying successful completion of all admission requirements and your graduation. GED and homeschooled students may meet alternative admission requirements.

B. Complete Required Course Work

Complete 15 total college preparatory units with a grade of C– or better in the five areas below.

English—four years

All four years should be in preparatory composition and literature with emphasis on and frequent practice in writing expository prose

Mathematics—three years

Must include first-year algebra and two additional years of college-preparatory mathematics such as geometry, advanced algebra, trigonometry, analytical geometry, calculus, finite mathematics, advanced applications, probability and statistics, or courses that integrate topics from two or more of these areas. An advanced mathematics course is highly recommended in the senior year. Algebra and geometry taken prior to ninth grade are acceptable. Regardless of the pattern of mathematics courses or the number of years of mathematics taken, the mathematics course work must include Algebra II (or equivalent) or higher

Science—three years

Your three years of science must include at least one year each in two fields of college preparatory science such as biology, chemistry, physics, earth or physical science. One year of lab science is recommended.

Social Studies—three years

May include United States history, global studies such as world history and geography, American government, economics, or psychology

Second-Language Proficiency

If you graduated from high school or earned a GED spring 1997 or later, you must demonstrate second-language proficiency by submitting an official transcript or score report verifying one of the following:

- Two years of the same second language in high school; or
- Two college terms of the same second language; or
- Proficiency test (for example, SAT Subject Test or BYU Foreign Language Assessment)

Options for meeting the second-language requirement, including American Sign Language, can be viewed online at admissions.uoregon.edu/secondlanguage. Exceptions to this requirement are only considered for students graduating from high schools unable to offer two years of any second language

Alternate Course Completion

If you have not completed the required high school course work as listed above, you may fulfill the requirements by doing one of the following:

- Taking the following SAT subject tests: Mathematics I or IIC and another test of the student's choice (other than math). Earn a minimum score of 470 on each of the two tests. A test in a second language is strongly recommended to meet the second-language proficiency requirements
- Taking high school or college work to complete courses you missed in high school. A one-term transferable college course of at least three credits (quarter system) is equal to one year of high school work. We strongly encourage you to contact the Office of Admissions to verify that the courses you complete will satisfy your course work deficiencies

C. Earn a High School GPA of at Least 3.00 on a 4.00 Scale

Students who have a 3.00 GPA or higher on a 4.00 scale, whose standardized test scores and GPA predict college success, and those who have completed the required course work are eligible for admission consideration.

D. Submit Your Scores from Standardized Tests

Submit either the SAT or ACT scores. Official score reports can be submitted in three ways: from the testing service (preferred), on an official high school transcript, or by a high school counselor on the paper university application. When making the SAT Score Choice selection, choose the option to send all of your scores. The UO considers your highest section scores across all SAT test dates that you submit. Only your highest section scores will be considered as part of the final admission decision. If you submit all scores, we will update your record with any new high scores. If you plan to participate in intercollegiate athletics, we must receive your scores from the testing service. Our school code number for the SAT is 4846; our code for the ACT is 3498.

E. Other Considerations

Fulfilling the standard admission requirements does not guarantee admission to the University of Oregon. Because of space limitations, we admit the most qualified applicants. We consider factors such as the level of course work taken in high school, grades earned, grade trend, class rank, senior-year course load, academic potential, special talents, extracurricular activities (including community service or the need to work to assist your family financially), the ability to enhance the diversity of the university, and academic motivation as demonstrated in the application essay. Extracurricular activities will be considered but will not compensate for low grades or weak course loads.

Alternative Admission

Applicants with GEDs

With a GED, you are not required to submit SAT scores, ACT scores, or high school transcripts. Applicants with GEDs must complete the personal statement/essay question listed on page 4.

The date of your GED matters:

- If you received your GED after December 2013, your standard score on each of the four examinations must be at least 150, and a total score of 680 or higher.
- If you received your GED between January 2002 and December 2013, your standard score on each of the five examinations must be at least 410, with an overall average of 580 or higher.
- If you received your GED before January 2002, your standard score on each of the five examinations must be at least 40, with an overall average of 58 or higher.
- In addition, if you received your GED in the spring of 1997 or later, you must demonstrate second language proficiency as described on page 5 under Section B, Complete Required Course Work.

Homeschooled and Nonaccredited High School Graduates

To be considered for admission you need to meet all four of the following requirements:

- Complete either the SAT with a minimum score of 1,540 for critical reading, mathematics, and writing scores combined, or the ACT with the optional writing component and a minimum score of 22
- Take the SAT Subject Test in Math I or IIC and a second test of your choice (other than math). Earn a minimum score of 470 on each of the two tests. A test in a second language is strongly recommended to also meet the second-language proficiency requirements
- Demonstrate second-language proficiency as described at admissions.uoregon.edu/secondlanguage.
- Submit an essay in response to the personal statement/essay question listed on page 4. You can also provide the second (optional) essay and special circumstances statement if you choose.

To make admission and scholarship decisions we need to know the college preparatory classes you will have completed by the time you graduate. Many transcripts do not include a senior schedule. Therefore, list all senior courses below. Also indicate the total number of courses in our five required subject areas you have completed through the end of your junior year (see page 5). Indicating which courses are honors, AP, IB, or college credits will help us identify the strength of your curriculum choices.

We need to know if you will have completed the equivalent of a full unit of each course requirement. Since there are a variety of term systems, we need your help to identify if you will have the equivalent of a full year of each subject. One term of college course work is equivalent to one unit of high school.

INSTRUCTIONS: Failure to complete this section will delay your admission decision. For your senior year, list the course titles and the units in a particular subject you will have completed by the time you graduate. For grades nine through eleven, enter the total units. Indicate courses as regular (RG), honors (HN), Advanced Placement or International Baccalaureate (AP/IB), or college credits (CC).

Check the term system used by the high school you attend(ed): _____ Semester _____ Quarter _____ Trimester _____ Block

One year or unit is equal to:	High School	College	* Contact your school counselor to determine how to convert your school's block or trimester system into full-year equivalents
	Four quarters	Three trimesters*		One term (semester or quarter)
	Two semesters	One block or two blocks*

Disciplinary History

The University of Oregon strives to maintain a safe, inclusive, and tolerant campus. While having a disciplinary or criminal record will not necessarily preclude your eligibility for admission, we retain the right to work with applicants toward the goal of a safe and inclusive campus. Accurate disclosure of disciplinary or criminal history offers applicants an opportunity to explain their circumstances and allows the university an opportunity to make informed admissions decisions. The vast majority of applicants who answer “yes” to these questions will still be eligible to be considered for admission.

If you answer “yes” to any of the three questions below, please provide an explanation that gives the approximate date of each incident, explains the circumstances, and reflects on what you learned from the experience. More information about this section may be found at admissions.uoregon.edu/conduct

31. English as a Second Language (ESL) and Multiracial Students

Is English your first language? Yes No

While federal guidelines determine the way we officially report on students on our campus in regards to ethnicity and race, some students find the official question to not be a good fit for how they define themselves. This question, while not used in our official reporting, provides these students with a chance to say more about themselves, and for the UO to learn more about our student body in the process; students answering yes to this question will possibly receive information on relevant student groups and services offered at Oregon. Your answer will not be used in our admission decision.

Regardless of how you answered our federal question regarding race and ethnicity, do you consider yourself to be multiracial/multiethnic?

Yes No

Note that all CHC applicants must also complete the UO's general application essay requirement; applicants may submit their CHC admission essay to meet that requirement. However, the UO general essay topic cannot be used to fulfill the CHC admission essay.

The CHC essay should represent your very best effort; free from colloquialisms, slang, and abbreviations used in text messaging. Please take time to present your thoughts in a clear, well-organized essay that demonstrates your critical thinking skills in standard, formal English. Proofreading your essay in advance is a reflection of your writing acumen—spelling and grammar matter. The committee is looking for a coherent, energetic essay supported by specific evidence.

Reflect on one of the three topics listed below (500 words maximum). Preface your essay by including a thesis statement (50 words maximum) summarizing the main points or focus of your essay. Please avoid the inclination to state "I will show" in your thesis statement. Note, your thesis statement does not need to be repeated in the body of the essay.

1. Describe the scientific concept most important to your world view and explain why it is so critical to your outlook.
2. The "melting pot" is a common metaphor for American society. Would you argue for or against the utility of this metaphor? Why?
3. The UO's Common Reading Program for first-year students was created in 2009 by a Clark Honors College student specifically for new honors college students and was later expanded to include all incoming students. The Common Reading Program now brings first-year students together with the whole campus around a single book. If you were responsible for selecting the book for next year, what book would you choose and why?

Verifying the status of your application

Generally within three weeks of submitting your application, you will receive a letter from the UO Office of Admissions acknowledging receipt of your application. This letter includes information on how to check the status of your UO and Clark Honors College applications. It is your responsibility to ensure that all of your application materials arrive at the Office of Admissions, including those items sent separately. Each year, applicants are not considered for admission because their files are incomplete. The missing items are often teacher evaluations or transcripts. Note: When Letters of Recommendation are received and processed, the word "Complete" will appear next to the teacher's name in DuckWeb.
